'The Chameleon' Captures Famke Janssen, Ellen Barkin, Marc-Andre Grondin

Trio will star in fact-based missing-persons thriller

Famke Janssen

February 17, 2009

Famke Janssen and Ellen Barkin will hunt "The Chameleon."

The pair will join Marc-Andre Grondin in the cast of the missing-persons thriller, according to The Hollywood Reporter. Grondin will play a man who claims to have gone missing as a child. Barkin will take on the role of the child's mother, and Janssen was cast as an FBI agent investigating Grondin's claim. Nick Stahl and "Lost's" Emilie de Ravin had already signed on.

Janssen, 43, had a role in "Taken" earlier this year. Barkin, 54, co-starred in 2007's "Ocean's Thirteen."
